College students take 'add-on course' on 'Understanding Gender'

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
SILIGURI, 31 MAY

The Women's Cell of the Surya Sen Mahavidyalaya in Siliguri and the Internal Complaint Committee, in collaboration with the IQAC, recently organised a 30-hour 'Add-On Course' for students titled 'Understanding Gender.'

Around 100 participants attended the certificate course held through 23 May-27 May.

In the inaugural session of the programme, a welcome address was delivered by Prof Sutapa Saha, the Convener of the Women's Cell and the ICC, and the coordinator of the event, who emphasised on the complex relationship of the human body in relation to gender identity and sexual orientation, and also explained the objective and relevance of such a course in understanding gender-related issues.

The resource person for the inaugural day was Dr Pranab Kumar Mishra, the Principal of Surya Sen Mahavidyalaya, and his topic was 'Transgender, Gender Equality Versus Gender Equity: An Overview in Indian Context'.

"Dr Mishra explained in a simple yet effective manner the subtle differences between equality and equity, and explained the history of transgender people that dates back to the very ancient times in India. He also talked about the transgender identity in Modern India," a college official said.

On the second day, the resource person, Dr Amab Baul, spoke on the topic 'Grasping Basic Concepts of Gender'.

"Drawing his references from various texts, theories, movies and global information, he made his deliberation much interesting for the participants," the official added.

On the third day, resource person Dr Tamali Mustafi deliberated on 'The Female Foeticide: Beginning of Gender Discrimination in Society.' "Herself being a grassroots level researcher in this field, she was able to draw on many real life instances that she had witnessed," the college said. On the fourth day, Prof Manomita Sarkar spoke on 'Economic Independence in Relation to Women Empowerment and Equality'. In her discussions, she referred to Women's Self Help groups working in the districts of West Bengal and the energy, effort and perseverance of women of marginal rural areas which in a way was a very unique experience for the young participants, the college official added.

"On the last day of the course, in the concluding session, resource person Sri Amit Sarkar, Secretary of the Darjeeling District Legal Aid Forum, imparted some important legal information related to gender related rights and protection to the participants. Thus, the whole course not only apprised everyone of the nuances of gender expression and gender identity, but also covered a plethora of perspectives related to gender," the college official said.

Each day, the deliberation session was followed by a screen-show of a documentary for about an hour. The event was conducted by the in-house members of the Women's Cell and ICC, including Prof Manomita Sarkar, Prof Sudeshna Mandal, Prof Sumosree Mukherjee, Prof Babita Prasad, Atasi Ghosh Kundu and Tanima Ghosh.

"Prof Saityaki Sarkar's technical assistance deserves a special mention for the successful completion of the course," the college said.
